

Tastaturen umstellen

The image displays several screenshots of the macOS 'Landeseinstellungen' (System Preferences) window, specifically the 'Tastaturmenü' (Keyboard Menu) section. The main window shows a list of keyboard layouts with columns for 'Ein' (checked/unchecked), 'Name', 'Schriftsystem', and 'Skript'. The 'Deutsch' layout is selected. Other visible layouts include 'Türkisch - QWERTY-PC', 'Ukrainisch', 'Ungarisch', 'Unicode Hex-Eingabe', 'US', 'US Erweitert', 'Vietnamesisch', 'Walisisch', and 'Weißrussisch'. The 'Tastaturmenü in der Menüleiste anzeigen' checkbox is highlighted with an orange box.

To the right, two keyboard layout preview windows are shown: 'Tastaturübersicht (Deutsch)' and 'Tastaturübersicht (US)'. The German preview shows a keyboard with German characters like 'ü' and 'ä'. The US preview shows a standard QWERTY keyboard. Orange arrows point from the 'Tastaturübersicht einblenden' button in the main window to these preview windows.

Text annotations include:

- 'für mich wichtig' (important for me) with an arrow pointing to the 'Tastaturmenü in der Menüleiste anzeigen' checkbox.
- 'ab und an wichtig' (important from time to time) with an arrow pointing to the 'Tastaturmenü in der Menüleiste anzeigen' checkbox.
- 'nur vollständige Schriften haben alle Zeichen' (only complete fonts have all characters) with an arrow pointing to the font dropdown menu in the US keyboard preview.